

Datasea Announces Strategic Partnership With the Objective of Providing Smart Community Services to 110 Residential Communities in Changsha City by December 5th, 2021

Datasea Inc. (NASDAQ: DTSS) ("Datasea"), a technology company engaged in providing smart security solutions, smart hardware and education-related technologies in China, announced today that its wholly-owned subsidiary company Guozhong Haoze (Beijing) Technology Ltd. ("Guozhong Haoze") entered into a strategic cooperation agreement with Hunan Changdian Information Technology Co., Ltd. ("Changdian") with the objective of providing smart community services to 110 residential communities in Changsha City by December 5th, 2021.

Under the agreement, Changdian will assist Guozhong Haoze with smart community services distribution and market expansion in Changsha City, the capital of Hunan province with a population of over 8 million. Smart community Services focus on the security needs of households and property management, including pandemic prevention and control, while facilitating intelligent upgrades for the whole community. Through hardware equipment that facilitating contactless body temperature measurement and face recognition, the smart community services help businesses like property management companies with community intelligent management. Through the mobile app, smart community services can directly reach to households and residents in the communities and address their daily life needs by providing access to online shopping, local services, electronic payment and other value-added services.

"I am very pleased to announce the strategic cooperation with Changdian and look forward to providing services to a potential of 110 communities in Changsha City. Pandemic control and prevention has become a new focus in the community safety and Datasea's smart community services fulfill that need perfectly. Meanwhile, Datasea completes a business model upgrade so that smart community services can generate diverse revenue streams for the company through sales of systems, advertising revenue and online operations. As we see the business potential and vitality of the community in the long run, our services are strategically designed to serve everyday needs of residents while promoting community engagement," said Zhixin

Liu, CEO of Datasea, “In the future, we will continue to expand our product availabilities in other cities with strategic partners. Datasea focuses on delivering seamless services supported by technology while creating sustainable value for our shareholders.”
